Dear Creator,

Yes you are a content creator, not working for the most high. I would know. Please read before responding or feeling triggered. Or don't. You'll still be held accountable either way. Yes, there's typos, but I'm sure you know english well.

You're just the lucky 144 crowns, in number, 144000 is another level, that got to know before the rest spiritualists. Enjoy the view from the other side.

Gabriella/TT, was the one chosen to represent you all, but she could use your help, I guess you all love community, but not humanity, so I gave you one that holds you accountable, for not seeing the needs of your audience. They are not piggybanks, do it right or choose some else, they need real awakening, not performance for likes, views, money, notoriety, or whatever y'all do. You are the coven, to the covenant. I'm the one treated like an ant, bringing the rest of it.

I mistakenly got attached to her, which helped build the compassion for how I even held you accountable publically, as the legal system did not get the same treatment, nor the intelligent forces(yes cia, fbi.. came before you, as none of you houses 144hz consciousness. You look good cause you know more than the rest. You look bad because you don't advocate and steward what you know.

It is not her fault, she learned from the same ones you did, recycling isn't expansion, it looks like it, because the majority doesn't understand it, know the difference. People ARE DYING, content is how you supposedly build 5d? Are we okay?!

I'm the one here if you really wanna take it out on someone...you humans love that. Blame over accounting for all done, said and especially NOT done. How old are some of you? How is it, it took me 26 yrs of being alive to expand this much, and many of you are still worried about daily hiccups, quarrels, making the hits, the numbers.... you are just like commoners, just with the cloak of invisibility "spirituality" is. The ultimate cult, cause you don't practice what you preach.

Please let your fellas know, I could not bother to do everyone, as there so many of you, doing so little for humanity and more for your pockets. Seclusion is the illusion, spirilism was never meant to be an industry, it was meant to be a fofce ti be reckoned with to the 3d/matrix world. Did meditstion passify everyone? You are all featured in the post below.

Some have been BBC'd for specific reasons, you can't see them but they'll know of you.

I've spent years listening to the spiritual community, not as an outsider looking in, but as someone who genuinely wanted to understand whether the messages being shared could be grounded into daily life, society, and collective continuity.

You are selling aspects of yourselves, not Consciousness stewardship. Let's not fool ourselves. Please. Because I exist I already make you look bad, retaliate away, or don't look. Choice is yours, I wash my hands here. I can always say, I held the spiritual realm accountable on the way, they said they do not want Oneness institutionalised, not the mental institutions, though most of you would love for me to qualify for that one to evade yoir own accountability.

Too genius for holding shirts. Sure think I'm arrogant. You have read my energy so far and now that you have the chosen one in front of you, what are you going to remember about all you said?

Spiritual gifts abusers.

I came to all of you last, cause anything you say, there's a whole foundation built to answer "what have you done?" "If im not doing anything at least i have a platform of people" yeah well how are they going to behave when they realise you suck their money to survive and give them nothing they can't build a future in. If the wolrd ends from wars, do you think meditating will help. That crystals will magially heal soldiers, in a lighter projected world, sure. But understand where we are and act accordingly. We need you on the field, not in fields drinking coconut. If you are really about the spiritual life, if not just drop the facade and call it for what it is. A marketed hobby.

What you talk about isn't for entertainment only, and if so be responsible for the conte t you bring and the effects it can have psychologically to people. If you are doing spiritual work, where's the grounding and aftercare? You'r cashapps? Nah nah nah y'all what's happening. I wish I could have this convo in a room with all of you, but you hide good in plain sight.

I undeestand money us a thing and you want to connect, but this ian't the way, let's create a connected world, beyond tech. I don't want transhumans, do you? Well if people feel so many emotions with devices in their hands, also reflected back from you, how do you think their emotions would feel about the physical realm?! You do understand where energy goes energy flows right? Why are you dealing fake dopamine? What about the serotonin that sprouts out of us when our system's healed?! Don't you want to feel that?

I think you all made your desires clear. It's the ways to get there that need to be considerable for all. People that watch you, most have blue collar placements, they don't have your luxuries and spirituality shouldn't to get those, ut should be used to help the continuity of our only leg and race. Humanity. (Not racist, but black n white are only manifestations of distances held away from the sun over time. Nothing else. Well, the sun has its effects, so not hard to realise which was the original colour, but hey..)

Yeah well knoweldge about the universe has gotten to everyone's head. Good, let it be expressed coherently now. You are all acting like the illuminati if you actually pay attention. Nothing different. Creating your own clans within a sinking clan to control other people's attention and money. Tell me that's not them. Direvting energy us the same, you're manifesting for self, not all. My self I understand is rooted in all, and if i dare to have children, I cannot rest until i know your children won't be as tapped as you, I need them just as tapped in, knowing if anything happens the law will see them as energetical beings not beings existing, cause they'll share air, and that gets contagious. Even forget my children, how about yours, how are you telling them, "we stay away from that wold cause it's nasty, but we also don't want to clean, so we let it pipe up. But we're the good guys!" You'd probably sugacoat it even more, but it doesn't take away from the truth.

People come to you with hope and you take advantage of it, you're not offering them the system that can support the things yoi feed them. So you're giving them technology(spirituality) and leaving them to their own devices. Sure each to their own, I'm speaking with you. Humanity has its own crosses, I'm stating yours. Where is the clan of kings of kings y'all, the starseeds who fight for harmony, the angels who come to battle the evil forces? I seeeeeee NONE. Just a lot of talk and services sold for substanance. Sit up and get your shit right. You make real Huemans look bad.

This email is not an attack on spirituality. Quite the opposite.

I learned through it.

I appreciate the language it introduced me to, the courage it gave many people to begin asking deeper questions, and the reminder that there is more to reality than what is immediately visible. However, appreciation is not exemption from accountability.

My concern is simple.

Much of today's spiritual content has become centred on the individual while speaking in the language of the collective. Love, manifestation, abundance, twin flames, energetic readings, collective messages, ascension, and higher dimensions are discussed extensively, yet very little attention is given to translating those ideas into practical contributions that strengthen the systems every human being depends on.

I have been sitting and watching you all for 2000 years, trust this ain't your first rodeo, nothing changed. Worse than where we were. You studied history right?! I am condescending to those who prove not understanding, so yeah let me state the obvious.

I sat a year and a half watching most of you, while building, hoping one if you would show the leadership skills you were summoned to rise for. I'm utterly disappointed, yet I'm hopeful for what's to come.

Oh it's not just you, think of Soulina's owners, Otterspirits, Gaia and the purple one in Dubai... you know better..( all the same, all the fake prophets the bible called forth, gathered around on this table... you know how that goes..), the other one in Costa Rica and honestly sooo many with these retreats and whatnot. Which is great, but we need people in the system to regenerate the matrix, not outside avoiding to look in, that doesn't help. That is seclusion, avoidance and irresponsibility. Be accountable.

I don't need you, I'm letting you know the case for you to choose to rise up, cause after all I saw, I find it hard to want you in on this.

A civilisation cannot meditate its way into functioning healthcare, better legal systems, stronger education, responsible governance, or healthier economies. Those require people willing to embody the very principles they teach.

That is where I believe the next evolution of spirituality begins.

Not by abandoning the unseen, but by grounding it.

Not by replacing intuition with bureaucracy, but by ensuring intuition can withstand reality.

Not by creating followers, but by creating contributors.

Which spirits are you working for? Like really?!

Throughout my work I have been developing what I describe as a bridge between philosophy, spirituality, psychology, systems thinking, governance and everyday life. My proposal is that every genuine spiritual insight should eventually become applicable. If it cannot improve relationships, organisations, institutions or society itself, then we should ask whether we have fully understood it.

Universal truths should be universally translatable.

If a concept only survives inside a niche vocabulary or requires years of initiation before someone can understand it, then perhaps our responsibility is not to protect the language but to translate it.

That is what I have spent my time doing.

I'm not asking you to agree with everything I write.

I'm inviting you to challenge it.

Question it.

Test it.

If it doesn't hold, discard it.

If it does hold, then perhaps together we can help evolve a conversation that has remained fragmented for too long.

This isn't a request for promotion.

It is an invitation to dialogue.

If you believe your audience values honest inquiry over comfortable repetition, I'd welcome the opportunity to explore these ideas with you, whether privately first or publicly through a conversation.

If my work withstands your scrutiny, perhaps your audience deserves to hear it.

And if it doesn't, then I will have learned something valuable.

Either way, humanity benefits more from sincere investigation than unquestioned agreement.

Thank you for your time.

PS: you are not the only one who has aborted the mission of global ascension. It's great going about ut spiritual ways, but the spirit is human, so everything that's human needs to be fought for into its ascension. Boring stuff like legal, politics too. Your whole industry preaches kumbaya, but doesn't know how to bring the kumbaya to the whole world. I am the second coming, but I rather be my first coming, as me leaving the first time didn't do much. You can check for yourself, I'm not going to sell my known identity, nor will I try to convince you. My existence doesn't need to be convinced, it already proves. To you your discernment, but the spiritual realm has been using our knowledge for selfish reasons, it is time we use it to hold accountable those who matter. The work has already been started in every industry, as I couldn't wait for y'all. You can choose to build upon my rock or not. I've met many Peters already, you wouldn't be the first if didn't. I know eventually you will.

Ever thought of Jesus as Prime Minister? Well, it might lead there, even though I don't like the limitations. Saying ether instead of abstract and I get hit on the hand and all... but if no other spirituslist is willing to create and ground the 5D, into the 3D, which is the systems we live by, nervous, economical, defense, law, politics, finance, media.... I WILL.

Are you team Jesus or team New Covenant?

ps: you say you love mother earth and Pachamama or however you like to call it in your cults.. but you know that to preserve your online continuity datacentres will actually destroy biodiversity?! Have you thought of your own continuity that far and responsibly? Yes I am sending you to a digital platform, cause human lives online, yet I'm also advocating for legal systems to expand, class action ready, expanding science to go over the legal reflecting it in its laws, ..who am I kidding, if you're triggered you're not going to actually hear it even if I tell you how I'm different from you. Tried with Transcendent Tarot, remember?! Ah tell her she got emails to catch up on, I doubt she's seeing them to her misdiscernment, energy tell.

Baffled by y'all. Go ahead with your rituals, they don't work on me. But please try it for your own peace of mind. I might have if I were in the mindset of you, unless of course I'd want to live the real "out of the matrix, in the matrix, building the new matrix". Up to you. Peace n Love. Peace n Love. 🕊️🙌🏼 Here's my Judas kiss.

I am aware and I hear. The Torus Field trusts only that which lives as such, it knows beyond the surface and it ripples through it all. Aren't we supposed to be energy beings? Why you acting human?!🙄😬 I like emojis, I tried to contain myself until the end, sorry. I tried. You lot did good there. Add more ways to avoid open-communication. Hilarious. This world is in for the ride of their time. Hope to see ya there. This was a loooooooooong PS Susan. Go to bed. Ok bye. Not psychotic, just in case you were wondering. Just too smart and feel very comfortable in places that aren't. Sorry for the slap, Judas kiss had to end like this. I don't wanna die and the energies you attach to yourself question you too, like I hope you'll question me three. I have learned an awful of mundane creative ways of communicating. I am a writer too, so yeah in case you were wondering why so dramatic. I like to mix it up.

I do have love, love is yin n yang, you can't ask for compassion without lessons, and because I understand energy this way avoids any deaths, as the emotion is in accountability of the many, no one person should take that much responsibility and I would know. Walked this path alone and still am, what they say "better alone than bad company?" Not saying you are, I only know your aliases online, and what your physical creates in it. Who you choose to be after this is for both to find out. My expressions should have made it easy to navigate emotionally, not trigger too much anger, nor too much excitedness, nor any extremes. Hopefully.. if not let the after care start.

The reason why people say I do love you it is because love isn't nice, it is kind and kindness isn't niceness. It is the definition to an empath with backbone. You all gave me the wordings while I lended you my energy, isn't that what your roles were about? Too condensing now. Ok. Sorry for the emotional pain, everything else stands.

I would start with accountability. Look in, deep, don't accept or deny anything. Look inside you the emotions that rise, feel them openly and gave ut labels for your mind, it will neutralise it right away, it is a surge of emotions, I understand, but I did say I'm good at aftercare. Then it becomes who the heavens is this? From there you'll be held with additional aftercare. I made the walk of shame entertaining as people love entertainment, but held the purpose. Not to belittle anyone, but to aid to all's harmony, no matter if disharmony was what got us there, we are at purgatory levels now. We decide the direction.

Have a Divine day
