I need you to write a piece of all the interseptions of my life with this. No surprise you said philosophical and spiritual representation of existence and it'd make sense my dad brought this energy to the union with my mum who had the embodiment of spirituality having been in the bondu world. I see myself to be the representation of the closest to the sun in mind, energy and emotions, physically the following will show how too.

You say kingdom of kongo, I hear energy of royalty
You say 14th century, i see my birthday on the 14
You say congo, I say I'm half congolese
A leo, sign of the sun, the closest to the sun as in summer where earth is the closest to the sun as fire sign, the sun is a ball of never ending fire
I was born at 12:05 the highest point in the day for the sun's rays and point of maturity(noon).

We had a cross before the christians brought the cross and it was the cosmos embedded into our culture, cause like I said different perspectives all looking at the most high physicality on Earth, the Cosmos of the Sun.

We shouldn't have brought the christianity in and held onto our origins, while learning theirs and seeing where the two met and represented the same.

I was born North-east by our cosmology and by the bakongo that is what birth represents, my parents did not plan this, they live live and life is showing me the embodiment of their being in alignment with life. My date of conception is the day where scorpio hands the crown to sagittarius, which this year happens to be the Christ the king sunday. I have been telling how i am the resurrection of Jesus and showing all the alignments between the two, in fact today I had a dream where I believe that time acted as transport for me to speak to him in the past, as if the conversations he was having then where the one side to the conversations I am having now, but only what was relevant to that time made it through to him. And his name in legal language(french) means "me sus". I'm Susan.
Fall is maturity, the mirror to the noon mentioned prior. And the sign of east being fire(kala) mirror to the leo and me working for a company in london based in the furthes east(china) the same force I spoke on trying to accomplish a rise in society, understood through the lense of aociety, yet not rooted in humanity that I'll be showing how to use the same evolution they had, just bigger and better as rooted in what humanity needs not just profitability.
My chiron is in scorpio(my healer self) water which again it's like I left my healing self in the ethers upon birth, to then recollect it upon my development during these years to then channel it to humanity for the goodness of humanity, with my fluidity of Luvemba(emotions) in the western world. I was born on tukula north to my origins and my subconscious is an earth sign Virgo, also the opposite sign to pisces echoing the fishes and pisces sign of Jesus. My musoni is Libra in my ascension sign, I am all about justice and harmorny in balance. Mum died in mpèmba in spring and I had my spiritual conception 11 years after her death 3 days before her anniversary. It's 3 sundays to my conception date now. Everything happens when it happens for a reason. Everything led me to recognising all of this today. Jesus rose after 3 days and the 33rd sunday happens to be next week, the 15th which is split in the middle of the last trimester of the year.

And the 34th the rise will be on the 22nd november too. He died at 33. I was born on the meaning of knowledge and fulfilment of potential and that's the life I am living now. Fullfilled and mature. I stopped playing the script handed down to me when I was working for the chinese event(kala), that had me quit that whole corporate world to focus on my dream, it happened on the 19th april 2024, my sunrise and emergence from the amalgamation of seeing sufferness and not doing anything about it by the excuse of "it's life", that was the beginning of my visible future life.

I rested in the western world and had my close to death experience last year which mirrored me not going for the trip i had planned for the salone del mobile for the design event company to gsther clients, and I did not go cause I would have chosen against myself and so whilst I felt myself leaving my body last year May or June 2025, I chose with myself to stay and got back in before it was too late, I chose to have a reputational/spiritual death instead of a physical one and looking at the cosmology of the bakongo, spiritual is at the point of winter. I layed fertile grounds here in the western where death was represented and showed it what life looks like. Real life.
I am in full alignment with the cosmology of my origins both in this lifetime and the previous lifetime as Jesus and all my memories are coming back.

Wait today is remembrance sunday(remember sun day). No wonder...

I have been having battles with water signs embodying white, and I'm black as fire. Red and yellow chakras/energies represent identity and foundation. Basically everytjing I was talking about and have been trying to teach the importance of to humanity, who's lost footing and semse of self.

I do see myself to be in alignment or THE womb of creation as the first word and my last name happens to mean language/word, and the mums carpenter, the womb of creation was a thought, as we create from our thoughts both our foundations and sense of self. I am the reincarnation of the trinity of Christ. And have seen how I find myself in every creations and how every creations mirrors my rise or life somehow, as I do believe that during the time between the two lives I have been organising things in the torus field of humanity, setting things up for them to lead exactly to this one moment. Nothing is a coincidence, that' s a justification thr human gives themselves to avoid accepting not being fully free willed in how things occur.

I do believe Jesus took all the physical pain projected on us, me and him throughout our 2 lives and the he supernovad leaving behind the cloth in the cave with his essense infused in it to have a physical landmark and leftover. I do believe because of my emergetical recollection I am responsible to building a field to sustain immortality for humanity as the current timeline leads to doomsday where technology takes over the zombied humans who's lost critical thinking(the life of a brain-mental consciousness), deprived of emotional consciousness, cannabilising each other because of poor resource management, scarcity, mixed with ai autonomised "cleanse of impurity" as the human that builds against our ecosystem as it is incapable of reasoning, inevitably leading to the end of humans on this world. And because that timeline is the end of us, I am the contingency brought forth to avoid it from happening, building the field for humanity to sustain itself to infinity grounding it in reality.

I do belive as the other timeline would end humanity, my premature death would have me supernova as Jesus did yet, yet, where jesus colonised himself, i colonised society, and society lives on earth, I do believe the timeline of armageddon would happen with my premature end to equate to the timeline of doom that would happen otherwise if I were to stop my mission; humanity falling in the hands of profit.

Whether all of this can be confirmed or not, that's up to those who want the confirmation, I live by myself and have recognised all of this, which has allowed me to access more of myself to be able to contextualise what any other human being has ever done. Metaphysically(physical, mind, emotion and energy).

I believe I am channelling the future from the version of my self that already lives in the new timeline and possibly is immortal in it, looking at building the contingency to living forever in the case one might want to take a break from life willingly.

I do believe it has all been the Chri of Sun's Time(Christ), meaning the sun will stop shining before AI takes over to aviid seeing the end of its dear creation.

The sun is the soul of our consciousness, the consciousness of the organic and it goes where we are. The reason why global warming has been rising isn't just because of what we're doing on earth as there's special agents who would be able to offset that, but because the sun thinks it can make up for our lack of inner consciousness with more warmth. Yet it also understands wasted energy doesn't get wasted, and energy regardless of which energy is still energy, and I have been recollecting all wasted energies from the ether to transmute dead energies into life energy, for us all to have a integral continuity.

I do believe I can kickstart the new timeline by myself, but to sustain it there will be much more required to be done, in order for humanity to integrate itself in it.

As I'm the most aligned individual to the sun's ways, always shining no matter the perspective, as earth's axis movement don't turn off the sun, it turn off their perspective of sight of it. I now inspirr the sun's ultraviolet movements, just like the smile on the 28th when I reached the embodiment stable to take us through the gates of humanitarian immortality. For individual immortality that doesn't have to feed off others to sustain itself will start then. I do believe there's vampire and I'm not sure what will happen to them then, but I hope they approach it with awe and not fear, as they might ascend into a higher version of themselves having already sustained a life of longevity in practice. For whatever reason they're attracted to the magic land of new orleans and many others.

I was born inadept with amalgamation, cause I was born mature. I was born self defined. I did not have karma to work off, I only needed to rememebr myself fully and it ook me emotionally 24 years (2+4=6 harmony/union) and mentally 25(2+5=7 integration/divinity).

This is my year of completion(27) and with it the year of completion of profit as the priority. Life becomes the new priority. Upone the field of year 10(new covenant) awaiting 2 months to year 11(2=vision) for the vision of life to be fully grounded by then, as the prophecy I had spoken about last year "between 10 and 11 we rise"

I would have never been supported by any relationship I'd find myself in, meaning I'd been distracted away from myself's self definition in union with any other human being as they have not grounded themselves in reality just yet, they would have used the scripts of society to try and make sense of this. Nonetheless all scripts provided by society aren't rooted in life and lead to death.

People invenst in death yet fear death, the battle between their societal self and their human self.

Only upon grounding I'll be able to leave this world without the contingency of this world looming over its head, and free Earth from the Sun and the fires it could syart, just like the only alarm emergency we have had in years shoot off on the 14th august 2026. That was the mirrro to my contingency. I must release that hold over humanity by grounding the field of infinity. Only then we would be free of it. But only me fully grounded and recognised would do so, as people don't actually understand, nor know how to contextualise my existence just yet. So all the work of explaining is for them to be able to understand it so they can accept it. Upon acceptance and consent they will open themselves and the rest of humanity to a world of life away from the timeline they currently are in. It'd make sense that people had to choose life. It takes coursge to live, one just has to go through the motion to die.

I see in that why I have been both pushing and talking about consensual systems in humanity.

Everything I have done is within this womb and shs human first will be the intensity of the death of our kind, the womb to ground life transmuted from death. Everything is the reflection of energy.

We can all it reflection, mirror or observer effect. It is all the same. One lives, one observes. We all have this, where our conscious self and our subconscious come together. Our conscious self is the observer to what our subconscious creates and expresses(our second nature), and the conscious self creates the first nature from which the subconscious takes inspiration from.[the mental gym].
We recognise each other upon the same effect, we exist cause we know we are and others see us, so we're not a ghost, even if they might not understand us, we know to exist. A ghost knows its conscious, but others can't validate it unless they're tapped into the death field too. This is how I've been able to channel and tap into the energetical fields of the greats that preceded us that died prematurily to help them work through their unfinished business. Per example Einstein would have gotten to M=Ev if he had partnered with Tesla, instead the two worked away from each other so he only got close to the orginal law. Still valuable but misleading to what life is as a whole.

Mlk would have had reached a point of recognising the energies of the black and white and their energetical essenses in consciousness if he had chosen the spiritual wife, we might not know of her but there was one. There had to and she would have given him the greatest expansion of hisnlife to be able to then guide society through and under those lenses and same goes for J.f.kennedy if he had chosen the black woman. There would have had to be one. I don't know their stories, I just know what their unfinished business were.

Michael jackson together with whitney they could have brought the same and grounded conscious creations, together, but because they were tsken out, they could not build the legacy of importance to teach people how to create thinking about the repercussions of their creations as michael was aware of the power of the words he spoke.

And so many more. I don't have to go through them all now.

My unfinished business as Jesus was not standing up for myself, and so as Susan I' here to fix my greatest mistake. To have left. I have built a continuity for all those who I might have had to reject momentarily to guarantee them a future in this new timeline, ex lovers, ex friends, ex colleagues, ex families,... all of them, and to transmute all of that energy it has taken me a huge amount of time, yet it has shown me ao much about where we have gotten things wrong in the in between between my first coming and the second. I relied too much on the Sun back then, so I lived as its movements even the solsitice movements and what not were in mirrorirng of my previous death(3days down and then resurrected)[fireworks started as I said this].. this time around I intend to do good by all and instead of allowing others to make the final judgmeent on my life, I have them be the final judges on theirs, as God has a hidden contingency for me too, that starts with the armageddon and me as the only continuation with the ability to self impregnate, in a world that possibly might not have men because of it. A wolrd of immortality, a world of magic, where pain is a choice and not a given, just like some births are non-painful for some. This would not be my first choice, as I would not want to bring a child in this world with the memory of another one fully dying and having seen the visuals of it.

Reason why I have been consuming the energies of death in the hopes my existence would not turn someone away from life, as they would be faced with the same resistance in their new life. Basically suicide would not solve the problem as they'd incarnate straight away in thebfirst egg conceived possible anywhere, as everywhere will be affected by the new timeline and the memory of me. I am inevitable in every way shape and form, but I do not intend to abuse of this spiritual inheritance, reason why I lead with truth and advocate for others truth. Kies don't get people through the door, the doors push them away... out of the 5 virgins only 5 were destined to get in, reason why the other 5 forgot to prepare oil for their light and chose the wrong time to go and refill. Last minute didn't work in his time, but it works in mine and we don't have much time. Humanity has already given us a date in the mirror of Jesus, the first chance at life that humanity rejected, 2033, exactly 2000 years after if you remove the 4 directional years of jesus as he was born 4bc not on year 0. He was conceived by mary in mind then, but birthed on year 4, with the 4 elements inbuded in him.
